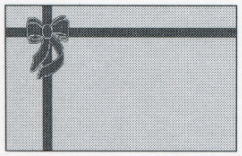
Tips for using Graphics Library 2

These graphics are designed for camcorder occasions! Most are dual purpose — they work for general occasions as well as for specific holidays!

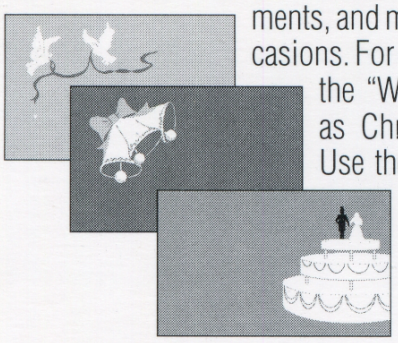
Happy Holidays! How about a video holiday greeting card! Start with the "Holly" graphic and use a sequential fade to reveal the family waving hello to Grandma. The holly and stars will frame the family!

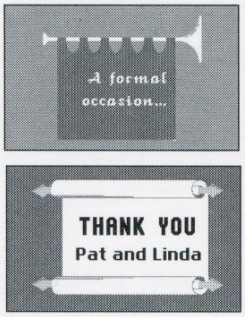
Then use "Santa Claus is coming" to introduce the kids giving their message to Santa.



The "Giftwrap" graphic is a perfect opener for a shot of the tree, with all the presents! It's also handy for other occasions, such as birthdays and wedding or baby showers.

Not for weddings only... Spice up wedding videos with these elegant graphics. But don t think of them as strictly wedding graphics — they 're also useful for anniversaries, announcements, and many other occasions. For example: Use the "Wedding bells" as Christmas bells. Use the "Lovebirds" to frame a long-married couple at a party.





Announcing... This package has plenty of general announcement graphics as well as ones designed for specific occasions. They also work well as opening titles. They work well over video — just choose "Video" as the background color.

Mix and match! Videonics title styles are designed to work together. You can mix the styles in this package with those in other Graphics Libraries as well as the ones that came with DirectED PLUS. With 64 colors to choose from, jazzy titles are a snap!

Blessed event? Use the baby rattle to announce it! Choose a pink or blue background. The "Big Heart" or "Cermonial trumpet" graphics could also serve this occasion.

A video embrace! Choose "Video" as the background color and place the Big Heart graphic over a video of your sweetheart!

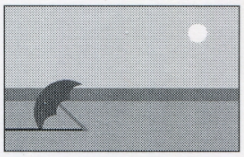
Rained out? There's even a graphic designed for celebrations that didn't quite go as planned!

At the beach. Shoot some footage with lots of sky. Add the "Beach" graphic, with an appropriate title. Use the sequential fade to change the graphic's sky to the real sky, then fade in the rest of the scene.



Explosive news! Award winning stories! It's easy to adapt these graphics to anything worth taping!
